

Granada, 8 January 2015

Dear Colleague,

We are organizing a new edition of the “Granada Seminar” on “Physics Meets the Social Sciences — Emergent cooperative phenomena, from bacterial to human group behaviour” that might interest you (perhaps you are familiar with it).

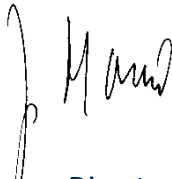

The meeting will be in the village of La Herradura (“Tropical Coast” of Granada, Spain) 15–19 June 2015. Luis A.N. Amaral, Alex Arenas, Jayanth Banavar, Albert-László Barabási, Andrea Baronchelli, Eshel Ben-Jacob, Rosa M. Benito, Richard Blythe, Juan A. Bonachela, Jean-Philippe Bouchaud, Claudio Castellano, Andrea Cavagna, Hugues Chaté, Dante R. Chialvo, Kim Christensen, Jose A. Cuesta, Bernard Derrida, Albert Diaz-Guilera, Jörn Dunkel, Santo Fortunato, Irene Giardina, Jesús Gómez-Gardeñes, Peter Grassberger, Dirk Helbing, Charlotte K. Hemelrijk, Hans Herrmann, Bernardo A. Huberman, Joseph Indekeu, Henrik J. Jensen, Mogens H. Jensen, Kunihiko Kaneko, János Kertész, Mark Klein, Tom Lenaerts, Vittorio Loreto, Simon A. Levin, Michael W. Macy, Yamir Moreno, Miguel A. Muñoz, Akira Namatame, Geza Odor, Maxi San Miguel, Angel Sanchez, Frank Schweitzer, Didier Sornette, Gyorgy Szabo, Katarzyna Sznajd-Weron, Boleslaw Szymanski, Raul Toral and Matthew S. Turner have tentatively agreed to participate, and other top scientists, young researchers and students will also join and help us with the friendly and stimulating atmosphere that characterizes these meetings.

<http://ergodic.ugr.es/cp> posts updates concerning past editions, venue, lodging, program and abstract submission. Participants with an accepted presentation may still apply for partial financial help consisting of subsidized hotel fare that include the registration fee (details in the PDF //ergodic.ugr.es/cp/subsidizelodging.pdf).

Please spread the word to relevant colleagues and students.

Looking forward to meeting you,

With best regards,
